DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 1-15 and 43-44, drawn to a probe for measuring water content, classified in class 600, subclass 547.
  - II. Claims 16-25, drawn to a method of measuring tissue water content in a selected region of interest in the brain, classified in class 600, subclass 378.
  - III. Claims 26-32, drawn to a method of deriving beat-to-beat perfusional and congestion changes, classified in class 600, subclass 378.
  - IV. Claims 33-42, drawn to a method of deriving realtime compliance or stiffness of brain tissue, classified in class 600, subclass 378.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I and II are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the probe of invention I can be used to measure the tissue water content using a calibration model other than the one presented by invention II such as a multivariate analysis.

3. Inventions I and III are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the probe of invention I can be used to measure water content at a point in time.

4. Inventions I and IV are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the probe of invention I can be used to measure water content at a point in time.

5. Inventions II and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention II has separate utility such as a method of measuring water content at a point in time. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

6. Inventions II and IV are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention II has separate utility such as a method of measuring water content at a point in time. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

7. Inventions III and IV are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention III has separate utility such as measuring beat-to-beat perfusional can congestion changed over time. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

8. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group II is not required for Group III; the search for Group II is not required for Group IV; and the search for Group III is not required for Group IV, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

9. Because Group I is distinct from Groups II, III, and IV for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

10. A telephone call was made to Wayne Tang on 3/15/2004 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

11. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
